LETTER TELLS OF SHIP WRECK

Miss Henrietta Coleman Describes
Graphically Mishap to S. S. California June 28.

IN AN OPEN BOAT 2½ HOURS

Indiana Party Suffers Hardships in Being Hauled Over Side of Rescue Steamer Cassandra.

Dr. W. S. Coleman is in receipt of a letter from his sister, Miss Henrietta Coleman, who together with a party of five, including Miss Genevieve Brown and Miss Helen Scott, were aboard the S. S. California when she hit a rock and was disabled Sunday night, June 28. She describes the details of the mishap graphically. The party sailed from New York for Glasgow Saturday June 20. Miss Coleman says in part:

"Just after dinner Sunday (June 28) we were all on deck having a gay time when suddenly there was a terrible thud and the ship stopped. There had been a dense fog for three days and the fog horn had been blowing constantly. When the ship stopped none of us were frightened or thought for a moment that we would have to leave the ship.

"Shortly the S. O. S. signal was sent out and we knew we were stranded on Tory Island. We were told to pack our baggage, but fortunately our trunks were packed and our hand baggage was soon ready to go off. Presently we heard the siren of the Cassandra and we felt pretty good when we knew she was within three-quarters of a mile ready to take us off. She did not dare come any closer.

We were then told we would not be taken off the ship until dawn. None of us thought of sleeping. About three o'clock they gave us life preservers and the life boats were lowered. The Coleman party and all her best friends went in the same boat. We left the California at four o'clock and were two hours and a half reaching the Cassandra only three-quarters of a mile away.

"That trip was an experience we will never, never forget. Each wave seemed to set us back as far as we had gone. We were all very sick. Even I fed the fishes, though I had never before done such a thing. When we at last reached the Cassandra, it looked about a mile to the top. The way of getting us up was very crude. Carrie Ong had the worst of that experience. They tied a rope around a man's waist and he held Carrie and they pulled them both up, of course, bumping and if the man had lost his grip, she would have gone into the sea.

"She was the first woman out of our boat to go up. They saw that plan would not work so they took a blanket and tied ropes to each end and rolled us up into that and pulled us up. I was the last woman to go up and I was so sick and worried at seeing the rest of them that I did not know anything when they rolled me out of the blanket on to the deck. Some one poured some awful brandy down my throat and I was sicker than ever, but in a couple of hours I was all right and we were all out on deck kicking.

"Several of the men complimented the Indiana crowd very highly for keeping their wits and not making a fuss.

"We slept only an hour or two all day Monday and Monday night. It is daylight up here by three o'clock and we were all up on the hurricane deck all the way into

GIRL DIES OF APPENDICITIS

Seven-Year-Old Girl of Jesse Johnson Expires Saturday.

The funeral services of Silvia Ella Johnson, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, who died Saturday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock at the home of her parents in West First street, o'clock at the late residence by the Rev. S. G. Huntington. Burial took place in East Hill cemetery. The little girl had been ill for four or five weeks suffering from appendicitis but never underwent an operation. Besides her parents she is survived by five brothers and four sisters.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOHNSON IS HELD

Sad Rites Over Body of Well Known
Rush County Woman Who Expired Saturday Night.

DEATH CAUSED BY ANAEMIA

Mrs. Alberta M. Johnson, 43 years old, wife of Bruce Johnson, died Saturday night about seven-thirty o'clock at her home west of the city following a long illness. Mrs. Johnson had suffered for some time from anaemia but was taken seriously ill only last Thursday and the end came rather suddenly. Mrs. Johnson was a well known woman and was the daughter of A. G. Reeves. She was a member of the Main Street Christian church.

She is survived by her husband, father and one brother, George Reeves. The funeral services were conducted this afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the late residence by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and burial took place in East Hill cemetery.

SWEEPER IS OUT OF COMMISSION

For This Reason Streets Have Not Been Cleaned According to Orders of City Council.

NEW BROOM BEEN ORDERED

People of the city, especially those living along the paved streets have been wondering what has become of the street sweeper. The reason is obvious—there is no street sweeper. That is, there is no broom, and a street sweeper does not amount to much without a broom. A new broom and some other repairs have been ordered and should be here any time as they have been on the way for over a week. There is a standing order on the city council records that the streets shall be swept every night in the business district and once a week in the residence portion. The brick streets are very dirty because the sweeper has not been used for over a week. Street Commissioner Jones stated today that they would be cleaned just as soon as the sweeper was in running order.

BREAK IN HEAT WAVE PROBABLE

Clouded Skies and Refreshing Breeze
From West Make Monday Most Pleasant Day in a Week.

YESTERDAY WAS A SCORCHER

Highest Temperature of Summer was Recorded, but it was no More Than Equal of Last July.

Clouded skies and a refreshing breeze from the west that sprung up about noon made Monday the most enjoyable day in the last week, but it was not frigid by any means.

A storm was impending this afternoon, but the cooling breeze came in advance. The day started like yesterday with high temperatures. The mercury rose to ninety-seven degrees above this morning, but this afternoon it had gone back to ninety degrees. The temperature dropped fast when it started.

The weather man was a little more encouraging in his forecast today. He said it would be cloudy tonight and tomorrow and would not be so warm in the northern and western portions of the state. Rush county is in neither the western or northern part of Indiana, but it was not so warm just the same.

It sprinkled here a little this morning on two or three occasions, but there was no rain worth mentioning. Reports were circulated that there was a heavy storm in the northern part of the county about noon, but they proved to be false when telephone calls were made. Rain fell, however, in small quantities in northern Rush county and there was a little lightning and thunder.

United Press dispatches this morning told of a severe storm all over the northern part of the state, which was expected to bring some little relief from the heat here. There was a damaging electrical storm at Tipton and rain fell elsewhere in the upper half of Indiana. There was a strong gale in Indianapolis which contained an occasional draught of cool air.

Yesterday was beyond any doubt the hottest day of the year in Rushville. Most thermometers registered a hundred degrees in the shade and numerous others went two or three degrees above the century mark. A temperature of 103 was reached the last week of July last year, so it was said today that the temperature was hardly a new record for the last few years.

Last night the customary cooling breezes did not show up and relieve restless sleepers. There was much suffering from the heat last night, because it was undoubtedly the hottest night of the summer. At seven o'clock yesterday evening, temperatures above ninety were recorded and there was very little change downward during the night.

True to his prediction, the weather man yesterday sent in some hot breezes from the gulf states which made the heat more unbearable. This increased the humidity because the southern breezes were laden with moisture. But for the fact that the sun remained under the clouds all afternoon, there might have been some ill effects felt from the day by many persons. Most everyone, however, sought some cool place and spent the day resting.

IRISH WON.

The Rushville Youngsters were defeated yesterday morning by the Irish team 9 to 5. The batteries for the Irish were Doll and Myers and for the Youngsters, Wright and Hinchman.

COMES TO BAT WITH A THEORY

W. H. Blodgett Says in Newcastle
Dispatch Catherine Winters
Probably is Alive Today.

AND WILL BE RETURNED HOME

Says Child Went Away With Someone in Whom She Placed Confidence—Many Give Motive.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 13.—Catherine Winters probably is alive and will in time be returned to her home, according to a dispatch from W. H. Blodgett appearing in the Indianapolis News here today. He states that the majority of Newcastle people believe that little Catherine, who disappeared fifteen months ago, left Newcastle at noon in company with some one in whom she placed great confidence.

Catherine is the daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters. Winters, his wife and W. R. Cooper, boarder in their home, were charged with a conspiracy to murder Catherine, but the charges were dismissed Friday.

Blodgett says the murder theory is exploded because of lacking motive and that Newcastle people believe Prosecutor Myers did the right thing in dismissing the charges.

"A good many people here can give a motive for taking the child away," writes Blodgett, "The people of Newcastle are becoming tired of this constant agitation by tin-badge detectives who come in there, collect a little expense money and make charges against reputable citizens.

RAIN IN INDIANA TODAY

Breaks Heat Wave in Many Parts of State, Reports Say.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 13.—Several sections of Indiana reported a break in the heat wave with unsettled weather today. There was rain at Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Tipton, Kokomo and Newcastle, with threatening clouds in other portions. In Indianapolis the temperature dropped from 90 at eleven o'clock to 76 at twelve-thirty because of the rain.

BOWLES OVER LIGHT IN MAKING A TURN

To Avoid Striking Motorcycle, Driver
Williamson on Hose Wagon is Unable to Avoid Mishap.

FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF $5.00

In attempting to turn into Second street off of Morgan street while answering an alarm from 518 west Water street the heavy fire wagon skidded and tore the pedestal lamp in front of the Knights of Pythias building from the foundation this afternoon shortly after twelve o'clock. Driver Williamson, in trying to avoid hitting a motorcycle rider, gave the team the reins and then could not recover them in time to keep from hitting the lamp. No damage was done to the wagon.

A trash pile at the side of the residence of Joe Madden caught fire in some unknown manner and burned a small hole in the weatherboarding. The box at the corner of First and Pearl streets was not in working order and the bell did not sound. The damage amounted to about five dollars.

EXECUTOR OF WILL MADE DEFENDANT

Grandchildren of Augustus Glidden in Controversy Over Certain Provisions of His Will.

ESTATE WAS VERY VALUABLE

Augusta Lail Brownell and Mary Lail Archer, through their attorneys, Hall and Campbell and Ulrich Z. Wyllie, have filed suit against Amos F. Glidden, executor of the will and testament of Augustus Glidden, deceased, asking for the construction of the will. The plaintiffs are the grandchildren of the late Augustus Glidden, and according to the complaint are the sole and direct heirs to his estate. It is stated that there is a controversy existing between them and Amos Glidden as to the meaning and construction of certain portions of the will and it is alleged that a fund created and known as the Glidden Trust Fund, is unlawful. Mr. Glidden died in 1896 and left a very valuable estate, including 650 acres of land, the Grand hotel building here and several other valuable properties.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 13.—The three-mile gap in the railroad outside Vera Cruz is being hurriedly repaired today. It is presumed that the line between Mexico City and this port is being made intact so that General Huerta may be brought into the American lines.

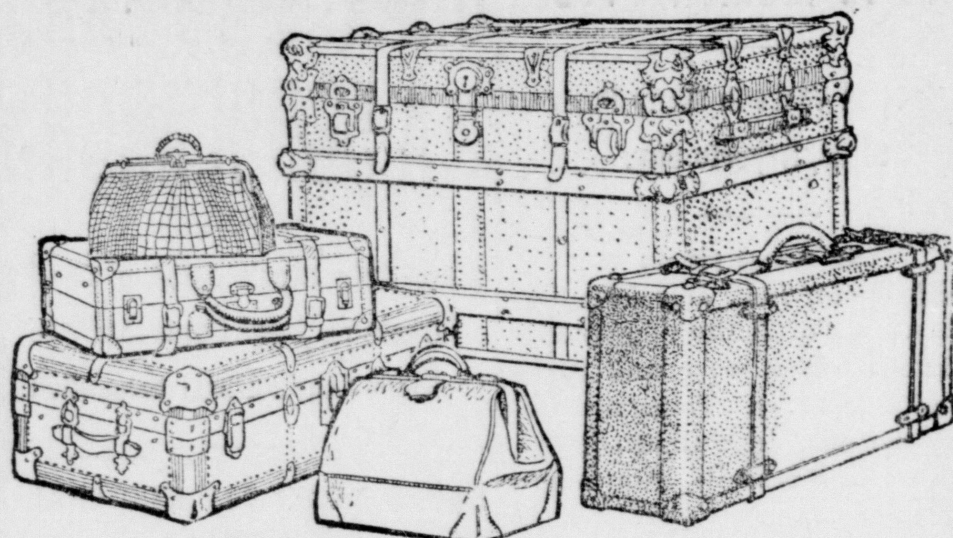

Bankers here this afternoon professed to know that General Huerta and General Blanquet, his chief adviser, will be here tomorrow night with their families. They will leave at an early hour Tuesday morning. General Pena will succeed General Blanquet as minister of war.

ISSUES BAD CHECK.

Alfred Fry was arrested this afternoon by Special Constable McAllister on an affidavit filed before Squire Kratzer by the First National Bank of Mays, charging him with issuing a fraudulent check. It is alleged that Fry gave a check to Alpheus Morris for $64.79, without having any funds in the bank. The offense is said to have taken place about April 1. The trial will be held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

WHEAT NOT TO BE A LOT CHEAPER

Department of Agriculture Sees Very Little Prospect of Lower Prices
Than Prevail

SAYS IT'S GROWTH OF DEMAND

That is Serving to Keep Cost up to Consumer—Other Counties Have Short Crop

Washington, July 13.—Despite a wheat crop estimate this year of 930,000,000 bushels, the largest on record, no hope is held out by the department of agriculture for greatly reduced prices. Such a large crop would augur very low prices, according to a statement, were it not that the world crops of wheat and competing grains do not promise more than the average of recent years. Besides more than the usual diversion of wheat from its use as food to the use of feed for livestock may be expected because of the relatively short supply of corn in sections where there is a promise of abundant wheat.

With corn selling in Kansas for about 7 cents more a bushel than wheat, it is not surprising, officials say, that much wheat should be consumed as feed by animals. Kansas' corn crop last year was only 25,000,000 bushels, compared with the usual production of 150,000,000 bushels. This year's estimates are for a crop of 150,000,000 bushels of wheat.

It is estimated that about forty-five million bushels of wheat of last year's crop was consumed as animal feed. Of the average annual production of 686,000,000 bushels of wheat during the last five years, about 580,000,000 was retained in this country and 105,000,000 bushels exported. If the domestic wheat requirement were reckoned at about 5.3 bushels per capita, exclusive of seed, and seventy-five to eighty million bushels for seed, and were applied to a population of 98,636,000, officials say it would indicate a normal requirement of 522,770,000 bushels, plus seed requirement of 77,000,000, or a total of about six hundred million.

The statement adds this would indicate an available export supply from the crop of nearly three hundred and thirty million bushels, but there must be deducted from this amount the quantity used for livestock feeding, estimated at approximately seventy-five million and possibly more. Even this would leave about two hundred and fifty-five million for export.

"Present indications," says the department, "are that during the coming season the domestic consumption will be unusually large on account of takings for livestock purposes and that the exportable surplus will find good foreign demand."

Success of a Medicine

All things succeed which fill a real need; that a doctor is kept busy day and night proves his ability and skill; that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold in enormous quantities in almost every city, town and hamlet in America and in foreign countries as well proves its merit, and women are found everywhere who tell of health restored by its use.

FINDING MADE IN NEW HAVEN CASE

Interstate Commerce Commission
Report Charges Railroad Directors
With Criminal Negligence.

RESPONSIBILITY NOT FIXED

Department of Justice is Furnished
With Evidence and Further Action
Depends on it.

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 13.—The interstate commerce commission today reported to the senate the finding in the New Haven investigation. The points made follow:

"The monopoly theory of the New Haven road was unfounded and mischievous.

"Its directors were criminally negligent."

"A substantial part of the stockholders' money which was wasted can be recovered."

The report is regarded as the most sweeping and condemnatory ever issued by the commission. No attempt is made to fix the responsibility as between former President Mellen and J. P. Morgan. The department of Justice is furnished with all of the evidence and thereby is made responsible for further action in the case.

The report states that "the result of our research into the management of the New Haven is to disclose one of the most glaring instances of maladministration in the history of American railroads."

The report says concerning the directors:

"If these directors were held responsible in the court and by public opinion for what they have done, the lesson to directors who do not direct would be very salutary."

URGES A THREE CENT PIECE.

American Society For Thrift Shows
How It Would Be Aid to Economy.

A ham sandwich for 3 cents, a chocolate ice cream soda and a street car ride for the same amount is the glittering prospect offered by the American Society For Thrift, which has worked untiringly for a three cent coin.

George E. Roberts, director of the mint, has received a letter from the society setting forth reasons for the coinage advocated.

"In Cleveland sandwiches may be purchased for 3 cents, which are about the same as five cent sandwiches in other cities," the letter states. "Evidently a very large amount of business is done with a nickel simply because that is the smallest coin current for many purposes."

"Mr. Strauss, president of the society, will return shortly from Europe and probably will appear before the appropriations committee of the senate on the matter of a bill for an international congress of thrift, and if it could be arranged we would like at the same time, formally if necessary, to present the national need of a three cent piece."

He could read when two and one-half years old. He reads the Bible to his grandparents and explains the paragraphs.

His pronunciation came easy. He advanced so rapidly that his grandparents became alarmed and consulted a physician.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Rushville given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to perform the same work in similar cases. Read this:

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says "I had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions which were sometimes attended with pain. I had severe backaches, too. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store and it did not take them long to make me well. The pains left and the action of my kidneys became regular. I am now free from kidney weakness. I am glad to confirm what I said about Doan's Kidney Pills in my former endorsement."

RICHARD TRAVERS.

SCENE FROM "DOLLY OF THE DAILIES."

"THE Dolly of the Dailies" series, by Acton Davies, is proving a many time winner. Mary Fuller plays the title leads in all of these pictures, and the charming little lady acquires herself nobly. A capable supporting cast adds much to the strength of the plays.

Richard Travers is a leading candidate for the honor of being "the best looking man in the movies," although Earl Williams, Jack Kerrigan and Carlyle Blackwell are all strong contenders.

"Shannon of the Sixth," a spectacular four part drama, has just been completed. Based upon the Sepoy rebellion in India, "Shannon of the Sixth," which, by the way, is adapted from the famous drama of that name, involves the use of hundreds of soldiers.

In "Nina of the Theater," the first feature of the Alice Joyce series, photo play patrons will see the audience as the actor sees it. One of the big situations takes the patrons back of the stage while a play is going on. "Nina of the Theater," like the stories which are to follow, is complete in itself and has no connection with any other production embraced in the series.

"By the Old Dead Tree" is a story of country school days and a teacher's romance. No doubt the call of the simple life brought the young bachelor to the country. No doubt his love for the plain and true prompted his friendship for the little teacher. Yet his intentions were misunderstood—this wealthy young man from the city. A better understanding came by the old dead tree where the young man proved the hero.

In "Bunco Bill's Visit" the men are all boasting of their bravery. John Bunco tells his wife what he would do if he met Bunco Bill, the terror of the town. She disguises herself as the bad man, confronts John and frightens him stiff. He gets square by turning some mice loose and scaring her. Bill visits John's home and robs him. His wife comes to his rescue, petrifies Bunco Bill and lands him in jail. She receives $500 for his arrest.

"Andy Goes A-Pirating" in the seventh adventure of Andy, by Mark Swan. Lured on by the irresistible dime novel, Andy forsakes the telegraph office for piratical conquests. He and his bloodthirsty crew man a dashing canal boat. Then the romance fades away, for their "victims" don't victimize, the police fail to see the joke—and Andy's mother has a strong arm.

WHY PRESIDENT WILSON DROPPED THE NAME TOM.

Held That Three Spondees Aroused Levity in Hearer and Bearer.

The secret is out at last of how and why the Thomas came to be dropped from the name of Thomas Woodrow Wilson. The mystery was solved by a disclosure at the reunion of the class of 1880 at Wesleyan college, Middletown, Conn.

President Wilson was a professor at Wesleyan from 1888 to 1890. One evening in the course of a call on a fellow professor a discussion arose on names and their effect on success in life. According to the story, Mr. Wilson held that the effect of a name was due entirely to its formation in long or short syllables.

Though "some with impunity snatch opportunity," it was almost impossible, the future president thought, to achieve success if tagged with a name that ran all in dactyls. On the other hand, success was certain, if one's name consisted of one dactyl and one spondee, the reason being that the human mind is pleasingly affected by the run of one long, two short and then two long syllables.

The next best sort of name, Mr. Wilson believed, was formed of two spondees, like "Woodrow Wilson," where the effect of the four long syllables was aided by the alliteration. But the worst sort of all was the name formed of three spondees, for the surplus of gravity in such a name always produced a reaction of levity both in the hearer and the bearer.

TOPPING POLO—EH, WOT?

"Monte Waterbury a Bloomin' Marsterpiece," Says Facetious Briton.

In the course of an interesting story of the first of this month's polo games between the United States and England E. G. B. Fitzhamon, who was sent over to report the match for the London Times, says in the New York Times:

It may be said that "it's hardly cricket, old chap," for Lord Wimborne to come over here and pull off such a glorious victory, while Colonel Roosevelt is away exhibiting his new river to the king of Spain. But that's where great strategy comes in. That was part of the campaign in which, as every one knows, King Alfonso has been actively interested ever since Lord Wimborne took his players and polo stud to Madrid to rehearse what happened at Meadowbrook.

That final score of 8½ goals to 3 must have looked pretty good in Madrid, while in Lannon—say, old dear, isn't it topping? Eh, wot, 8½ to 3? They will forget all about the militants and spend a fine old crusted and well mellowed midnight. Ten earned goals to four is "some beating," as Jack Joyner, Mr. Whitney's trainer, has taught them to say at Newmarket. By the way, I would not dare to begin an "article" for the august London Times in this negligee style. No, sir. If I should Lord Northcliffe probably would have me hurried to the Tower of London to die on the block at dawn.

If every one on the American team had played the same brand of polo that its captain did—but what's the use? There never was but one Monte Waterbury in polo annals. He is what the costers in London's east end call "a bloomin' marsterpiece."

A Heroic Slave.

There was a humble slave in the palace of the Caliph Haroun al Raschid. The caliph had in his audience chamber twenty rare vases, and it was written in the laws of Bagdad that he who should have the misfortune to break one of these would pay the penalty with his life. This slave one day broke a vase. He was instantly seized, tried and condemned to death. But the caliph had no sooner pronounced sentence on him than the slave turned, and, walking calmly to the other nineteen vases, with one sweep of the arm destroyed them all.

"Wretch," the caliph thundered, "why have you done that barbarous deed?"

"To save the lives of nineteen of my fellow countrymen," the doomed slave replied.

A Fashion Garrick Killed.

Women of England in the eighteenth century wore large hats. Samuel Rogers once traveled to Ranelagh in the same coach with a woman who was compelled to sit on a stool on the floor of the coach on account of the inconvenient height of her headdress. Hannah More, who was all for simplicity in costume, writes in her diary that she has seen women wearing on their heads "an acre and a half of shrubbery, besides slopes, grass plats, tulip beds, clumps of peonies, kitchen gardens and greenhouses." The credit of killing this fashion is given to Garrick. He appeared one night on the stage with a mass of vegetables on his head and a carrot suspended from each side, to the shame and confusion of many fair members of his audience.

Parks and Shade Trees

Every town, whether large or small, needs and should have an abundance of public parks and shade trees, beauty spots where the people may gather for recreation in the evening, for a breath of fresh air and for the rest and strength for the duties of the day to come. This need is emphasized now that the hot weather is at hand again. A traveler going from one large city to another was much interested in noting the appearance of each little town or community through which the train passed. One town in particular caught his fancy, for as the train pulled slowly through the town his eyes fell upon a long vista of beautiful shade trees, extending as far as the eye could see, on each side of the principal street. Cozy, comfortable homes nestled among the trees and the flower gardens. He never had occasion to visit this town, but he has often been heard to comment favorably upon it and to express a desire to make a visit there because of the favorable impression received from seeing the beautiful shade trees and the general air or comfort surrounding the town. Every citizen can help to make this town brighter and more attractive by putting out and cultivating shade trees and by assisting to secure and maintain public parks and beauty spots.

The Bloomington Journal, an alleged independent newspaper which is managed by the same man who made a failure of a Bull Moose newspaper in Newcastle, rises to remark that a poll of 156 voters in the hills of Brown county showed the following: Progressives, 50; Democrats, 51; Republicans, 30; undecided, 19 but takes no account of the ascendancy and the remarkable gains of the Republican party and the subsequent loss both to Progressives and Democrats in every state primary, state election or registration which has been held since 1912.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Cartoon Inconsistency
(Muncie Press)

The Indiana Shafer papers publish a cartoon representing a confederate colonel, with a picture of Lincoln in his hand, looking wistfully at the word "Progressive," with the statement emanating from his lips: "Not one of my sons named for president since Lincoln."

We do not know why this touching sentiment is expected to cause any blubbing in Indiana, but somebody ought to take the editor of the Indianapolis Star out, and advise him that the present president of the United States, one Woodrow Wilson, was born in Virginia, lived four years under the confederate flags studied law at the University of Virginia and he can practice of law at Atlanta, Ga. This would seem to make him almost as much a son of the south as Lincoln, who was born in northern Kentucky, moved to Indiana at the age of six years, and achieved his world wide fame by suppressing a southern slave holders rebellion.

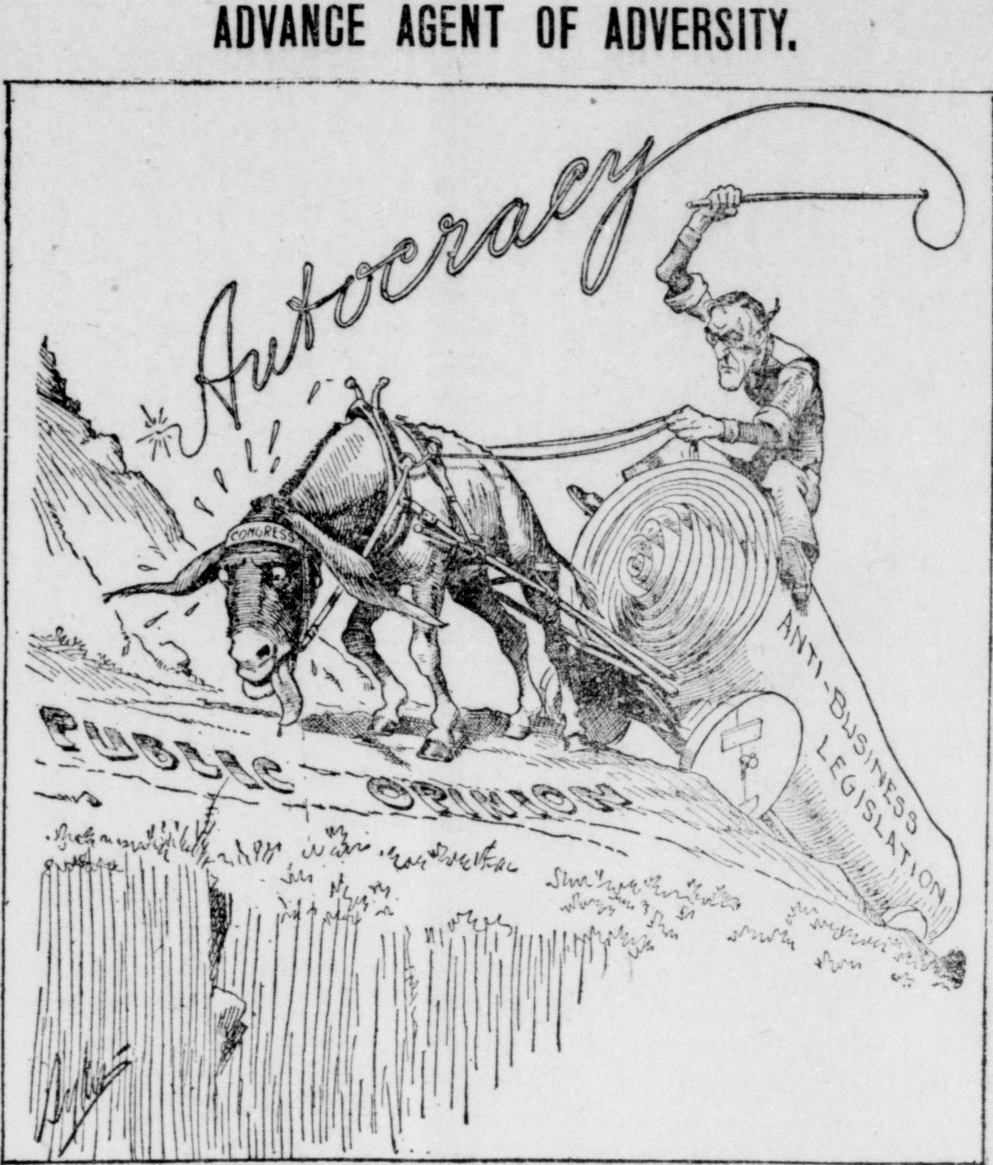

With the chairmanship of every important committee of the house of representatives but two, the speaker-ship of the house, the presidency of the United States, the floor leadership of the majority of the house, the chairmanship of a majority of the important senate committees, and fully half of the important appointments that have been made in the federal service since March 4, 1913, it would seem that the solid south comprising about twenty per cent of the population, territory and wealth of the country, has about all that is coming to it at present and there isn't anything for the leaders of the bull moose party to snivel about.

Finley's Inspired Gem.
(Connersville News.)

In that alleged bought-and-paid-for writeup "Tavener" points to the following paragraph as a gem from the inspired lips of Finly Gray:

"Mr. Chairman," said Gray, "there are certain rights which men take along with the right to inhabit the earth. Among those rights is the right to labor and to enjoy the fruits of that labor. This is more than a so-called vested right in property; it is a natural, inherent right of man. It is as sacred to him as the right to habitation itself. It is as vital to his existence as the breath of life. He must have the right to labor in order to live."

Ever since it was discovered that a jungle of words, uttered with certain force and emphasis, caught the unthinking, whatever their past, office-seeking demagogues have been saying in substance what Mr. Gray said on this occasion as quoted by his alleged press agent. Just analyze for yourself and see how little there is to it. Nobody of course, save laboring men themselves, are denying other laborers the right to work. The question of the right to labor was not being considered at all when the alleged gem was uttered, but the right of labor organizations to be immune from legal restrictions while heavy penalties were imposed on all other organized bodies save those of farmers. Such politicians as Gray, who talked of rights denied labor, are the sources of unrest among certain ranks of labor and that is encouraging ignorant foreigners to kill and destroy in the name of honest labor. Probably nine out of ten men in Mr. Gray's home district are outside the pale of organized labor. For many years there was no restriction on any of them securing labor who wanted work. But restriction has come to many within the last year and the party to which Mr. Gray belongs is held responsible therefor.

BUSINESS EXECUTED AT WILSON'S STAKE.

Representative Underwood One Democrat Who Has Revolted.

To the ranks of those who believe that the duty of congress is to adjourn and so permit business to get a little rest after the strain and the stress of the past year has been added the Democratic leader of the house of representatives. Mr. Underwood has even dared to cross the threshold of the White House with his view of the situation. He has told the president plainly that early adjournment is advisable and that the anti-trust program should wait; that the Wilson policy of jamming through important legislation in crude and undigested form is something that is disapproved and resented by his own party in congress.

Mr. Underwood knows whereof he speaks. He is acquainted with the wishes and the temper of congress. He has had many years of experience in national legislation. He knows what results must of necessity follow certain action. Moreover, he is in touch with the real sentiment of the Democratic party. He knows what its leading members really think. Mr. Wilson knows only what is said to him in the fawning atmosphere of the White House.

Besides, Mr. Underwood has himself suffered from presidential obstinacy. He knows by experience the unwisdom of yielding to the dictation of Mr. Wilson. The new tariff law would have been a far more popular measure and a much better one for the country if Mr. Underwood had not meekly yielded to the White House command. The features of the law upon which Mr. Wilson insisted are today the chief of the trouble makers and the objects of greatest attack.

Wireless telephony is now possible for a radius of 225 miles.

CALDER ASSAILS WILSON.

Candidate For United States Senate Criticises Weak Administration.

Congressman William M. Calder of Brooklyn is the leading candidate to succeed Elihu Root as United States senator from New York state. He has the support of most of the Republican leaders.

In a recent address in Brooklyn Congressman Calder took up the various policies of the present administration and showed how they had failed. He said the day was dawning for the Republicans; that the people had had two years of Democratic rule in national matters and had found that the Democratic party was utterly incompetent to manage them. In addition, he said, the people of New York had had four years of Democratic rule, which had disgraced the state.

Concerning the Clayton anti-trust bill, recently passed by the house, Mr. Calder said, that though intended to do good it was capable of the greatest injustice, especially in the minor clauses of the bill. He pointed out that the provision making price discrimination a crime, though directed at the big corporations, would hit the small man hard. Mr. Calder gave as an example a Jersey farmer bringing his produce into a New York market for sale. This, he said, would be interstate commerce, and if, after selling off a large part of his stock, under the competition of other dealers, he was forced to cut his price on what was left, according to the Clayton bill he could be prosecuted for discrimination.

Mr. Calder also took up the stand of the administration on the Panama canal tolls question, and said that this alone showed the inability of the Democrats to undertake successfully matters of national and international scope. The situation in Mexico, he said, was disgraceful, and he hated to think how this fizzle was costing the lives of our people in that country, the honor of our women, and millions of dollars' worth of property.

ARCADIANS WIN IN EASY MANNER

Take Liking to Ambrose Puttmann's
Offering and Wallop K. of C.
Bunch 10 to 5.

TODD GETS GATTING HONORS

Rushville Clearly Outclasses Cincinnati Team, Scoring Almost at Will—Heller in Form.

The Arcadians again demonstrated yesterday that they have the class by taking Ambrose Puttmann and his Knights of Columbus team into camp to the tune of 10 to 5. The Arcadians played ball all the time and clearly outclassed the Cincinnati team.

The Arcadians took a liking to Puttmann's offerings and in the six and one third innings that he was in the box a total of eleven hits were made, including a home run and a tripple. The big southpaw could not hold the fast traveling Arcadians and all that kept the score from being larger was the excessive heat.

Heller in the box for Rushville was master of the situation at all times and the K of C. team was let down with five scattered hits. Fast playing behind Heller featured the game. The infield played ball like clock work and while the team is credited with four errors, three were made in the first inning and after this the team settled down and played fine ball. As soon as the Arcadians got the ragged playing out of their systems in the first innings there was nothing to it but a victory for Davidson's boys. Heller struck out twelve of the visitors. They were entitled to only one earned run and that was Sandman's home run drove to center field.

The K of C. team was first to score counting two runs in the first when the Arcadians pulled off some loose playing. Crotty led off with a single and was advanced as far as third by a sacrifice by Sebas and a sacrifice by Land. Sandman hit hard to Long, and the Arcadian third baseman pulled it down but overthrew first base. The ball hit a post in the grand stand and rolled out to Jimmy Barton. Barton threw to second to catch Sandman and the ball rolled out into left field. Kuhlman threw to third and the throw went wild allowing Sandman to follow Crotty across the plate.

This two run lead did not bother the Arcadians. With two down Badel singled and then came Long with a home run drive to the willows in left field. The visitors were let down in order in the second, third and fourth innings, while the Arcadians obtained a one run lead in the second. This lead was increased two more in the fourth. Heller was walked. Hellmund flew to Brocamp and Barton drew a walk. Badel singled and Heller scored. Long was safe when Crotty muffed up his ground-er and Barton scored.

In the fifth Sandman in right field for the Knights of Columbus pulled down the feature catch of the day. With two down, Hellmund hit a fly to right and Sandman pulled it down with one hand while running along with the ball. It looked to be a safe hit. The batting honors of the day belonged to Charles Todd, our own

Charles Todd was the Batting Kid.

Charles if you please. Todd hit the ball on the nose all the time securing three singles out of five trips to the plates. Long relieved Puttmann in the sixth with one man down, but he fared little better as there was no stopping the Arcadians.

Newcastle lost to Connersville yesterday, making three straight games the Hoosiers have dropped. As a result the game here next Sunday has been called off as the team desires to play at home. The game will be played later in the season. The fans are anxious to see the two teams in action and believe that Rushville has the best chance the team ever had to win over that team. The Arcadian management is now trying to book a fast team to fill the Newcastle date.

If the fans thought Manager Davidson would not have the same lineup yesterday they were badly fooled. He will keep the team as it stands and the fans are satisfied that the Arcadians will take anything around here. The team is a heavy hitting outfit and the infield plays ball in a manner that cannot help but win praise.

It was too hot yesterday to hardly ask the fans to attend a ball game and as a result the crowd was very small. With the kind of a team the Arcadians now have and the playing they do, the crowds will soon be there as Rushville will support a winner.

The team tries all the times with Humpty Badel on first, as the old head of the team, and Jimmy Barton on second there is no wonder the team looks so good.

Bob Long at third, is about the best that has been on the local grounds. He makes an attempt to get everything that comes his way and when it comes to hitting he is certainly there.

Manager Davidson had Fox, a southpaw ready to put in any time that Heller went bad but he was not needed as Heller got better the farther he went.

Todd played far back in right on Sandman in the sixth and as a result was right under his fly. Sandman said to the grand stand that if

SOME QUESTION ABOUT CLAUSE

Discussion Whether Labor Exemption Phase in Anti-Trust Bills Would Really Exempt.

UNDER THE SHERMAN LAW

Legal Sharps in Congress That Only Trip Trough Courts Will Test it Thoroughly.

(BY BURTON K. STANDISH.)
(Written for United Press.)

Washington, July 13.—Does the debater "labor exemption" clause in the administration anti-trust bills new before the Senate really exempt labor unions from Sherman law prosecution?

This is a mooted question at Labor Headquarters, the Capitol and White House today, notwithstanding rooms of argument on the subject clogging official records.

President Gompers and officials of the American Federation of Labor who have been leading the fight for incorporation of the exemption clause are satisfied with the phraseology now in the bill as passed by the House. The President, too, is satisfied, and House and Senate leaders accept it as O. K.

But the actual operation of the clause is still problematical. High legal authorities in Congress—where legal "sharps" predominate—insist that only a test of the clause in the courts will decide whether labor receives or is denied any privilege under the new proposed law.

The wording of the disputed section is as follows:

"Provided, that nothing contained in the anti-trust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of fraternal, labor, consumers, agricultural or horticultural organizations, orders, or associations instituted for the purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations, orders or associations from carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, orders or associations, or members thereof, be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade under the anti-trust laws."

President Wilson's view of the clause is that it exempts labor and the other organizations from prosecution because of the sole fact or organization—combination—but does not prevent their prosecution, or that of any individual member, for any illegal, unlawful act of combination or conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Those who doubt the efficacy of the legislation point out that the courts have never declared that more "organization" is prohibited by the Sherman law and that therefore, the "exemption" clause adds nothing to law and does not, in fact "exempt" anybody or anything.

Agreements, such as "closed shop" working arrangements, between labor unions and big employers will still be prohibited and subject participants to a Sherman law suit, it is contended by many.

The "Honeymoon Car" is the name given by friends of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and his bride, formerly Miss Eleanor Wilson, to their new motor car. It is a racy-looking two seated runabout—"built for two" only—which McAdoo himself drives. For official, state travels McAdoo uses a victoria carriage with a spanking pair of bays, but Mrs. McAdoo prefers the "gas cart." Sometimes one of the younger McAdoo children is tucked between the cabinet official and his bride.

Todd had not been out there taking tickets the hit would have been good.

Hasselback at short accepted five chances without an error and connected for two hits.

The game was about the longest of the year. It was too hot to put on much speed and as a result the boys were allowed to take their time.

tween the cabinet official and his bride.

"Paddy, the Tarnover" is a pet squirrel known to thousands of Washingtonians because of his acrobatic stunts. He has a nest in a tall elm overshadowing the Jackson monument in Lafayette Square, opposite the White House. "Paddy" is the champion somersaultist of capital squirrels and to earn peanuts and pecans, performs until on-lookers become dizzy. It is said "Paddy" was trained while in captivity years ago. Others believe this doubtful because he has amused park loiterers for nearly a decade.

Representative Frank Clark of Florida is one solon who scouts the "high costs of living" complaints. He says he proved it to a friend right here in Washington, where the "cost of living" is supposed to be up in the clouds.

"I demonstrated that we could go out to spend an evening on something less than a dollar, including dinner and theatre," Clark relates. "We went to a certain popular dining place, two car tickets costing less than 9 cents. We had a good dinner of stew, costing 10 cents each, and strawberry shortcake, at 5 cents each, for dessert. Total so far, 39 cents. Then we went to a show, costing 10 cents each, enjoyed a performance of an hour and a half, and used two more car tickets to go home. The entire evening's entertainment and refreshments cost me just 68 cents—and I don't believe anyone will say I'm a piker, either."

FROCKS AND SUITS SHOW LESS TRIMMING AS THE SEASON ADVANCES

An inset vest or collar of contrasting material, a novelty button or two and now and then a bow or a ruffle of the same material as the frock, comprises the trimming of daytime frocks and suits just now. The tendency to less trimming seems to be growing stronger every day and unless there comes some decided change in the modes before long extreme simplicity will reign. The important note in the frock shown in number 8421 is the circular flounce at the bottom of the skirt topped by the two gathered ruffles; the collar is attractive and new in cut too and the general effect of the frock is youthful and chic. It is made up here in a dark blue taffeta with the small inset vest of a figured silk and a crush girde of satin.

This design requires for size 36, 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

A deep overskirt gathered to yoke depth and laid in plaits in back is the novel feature of 8414; white cragule crepe is the material with vest and collar of embroidery and a girde of pale green satin.

This frock requires for size 36, 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch material.

Number 8421—sizes 34 to 42.

Number 8414—sizes 31 to 42.

City Girl with Magic Pig Skin Bag Could Bewitch Whole Countryside

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for United Press)

Here's traveling kit for Kitty

That will keep her heart and pretty

On her week ends from the city.

New York, July 13.—When the fair city maid swoops down on rural relations and country cousins it is necessary if she would bag a few hearts that her week end bag be a bag of tricks. To get as much in as small a space as possible being the main problem, the modern maid would seem to have a cinch, judging by the things she doesn't wear as well as by those she does. As the more style she puts on the more clothes she takes off, a string of beads and a few ruffles of net would seem enough to turn the head of any country gentleman from Saturday to Monday.

First of all she travels in a suit either light weight serge ratine, railine or one of the other smart cotton fabrics with a plain blouse of handkerchief linen either in white or one of the new gay colors. If she believes implicitly in signs a white suit a la Phoebe Snow is most effective.

A smart top coat or cape of dark tone carried over the arm can be pressed into service with equal success for motoring or evening wear. Armed also with one of the conventional little party cases or victorias, toilette requisites are ready to hand. A flower trimmed hat that will go well with a fluffy frock and yet not clash with the traveling suit tops off this tactful traveller and she is on her way.

Arrived at her destination these are the presto changes that she takes out of her magic pigskin bag to bewitch the countryside.

A dainty little morning frock of flowered crepe or handkerchief linen; a sport skirt of white ratine for golf or tennis and a stiched crash sport hat that can also be used nicely for motoring with the aid of a veil. An extra white organdie blouse; an embroidered net dress of sheerest audacity and transparency and yet not so much so that the rustic bumpkins can see through its double purpose of serving for afternoon garden parties and the dansants and the evening dance without the tea.

One especially desirable model has a loose kimona blouse of shadow lace over embroidered net which is cut away above the waist line. There is an inner lining of color chiffon which gives a little stability to the short sleeves and blouse above the bust where the net is eliminated in favor of the shadow lace alone. The neck is cut low and V-shaped in front with a high medici collar of lace behind finished with fold of yellow taffeta at the base. The skirt is a tier of three flounces—first yellow taffeta which falls below the hips and is shirred on to the blouse with a heading; then a flounce over a shadow lace to the calf over a flounce of the embroidered net which falls to the floor. A sash of the yellow taffeta is caught with a flower of the same silk in the middle of the front line and falls on either side of the hips to fasten in a butterfly bow at the lower edge of the taffeta tunic behind.

A plain little, cool little flesh color crepe de chine negligee next comes to light. A pair of satin or bronze slippers, two underbodices, one flesh color crepe de chine the other white, a crepe de chine petticoat, two Italian silk combinations a crepe de chine nightie and cap, one-half dozen white hankies and six wide tinted and striped borders and last, least and almost infinitesimal enough to be overlooked in the bag but never to be overlooked (may rather be looked over many times) on the living model is a scanty silk bathing suit.

This for a dip in the surf where it is guaranteed to make a serf for life of any but a blind man.

And thus is Kitty's kit complete. She's clothes for house and ball and street.

For bath and sport sure at her feet Will fall each country swain she'll meet.

MAYOR WILLING TO MAKE THEM ATTEND

But Believes a Good Sunday Dinner and Promise of Job Would Get Better Results

HAS SOME IDEAS OF HIS OWN

(By United Press.)

Richmond, Ind., July 13.—Mayor Will Robbins is willing to sentence every petty offender brought before him to attend six Sunday services at the Second Presbyterian church instead of to jail, provided the church guarantee each of the offenders a good Sunday dinner and try to land him a job.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the church made the request of the mayor.

"A long sermon on Sunday morning might do some good, but the promise of a job and a good dinner, would lead the sentenced man to believe there was more virtue in Christianity than mere sermon," said the mayor. "Sending a man to jail for intoxication does not reform him, but neither does jamming a dry sermon down his throat do him much good."

"If the Christian Endeavor people are willing to treat a sentenced man, not as an outcast, but as a comrade, I'm willing to turn over drunkards to them. But I want their assurance that they'll look after him on weekdays as well as Sundays."

HOW TO PRESERVE ROSE-BUSHES AFTER BLOOMING.

Landscape Gardener of Department of Agriculture Offers Valuable Hints.

After the blooming season of climbing roses is over in June the department of agriculture's landscape gardener advises that shoots should be pruned so as to throw the growth of the plant into the new wood that bore no flowers this year, for this is the part of the plant that will bear next year. When a trellis is low (six or eight feet high) it is a good plan to cut off the shoots that have borne flowers this year close to the ground.

Most people in following this advice may feel that they are ruining their bushes to cut them back so severely, but the young shoots that have started about the roots will surprise them by springing up with wonderful rapidity. One shoot in a Washington garden last year grew twenty feet after the bush had been cut down in this manner.

In the case of a high trellis a different method must be followed. The renewal of wood must begin from a point higher up instead of from the root, as the growth of a bush is not enough to replace all its top on a high trellis if required to grow so far. Only so much of the old wood should be removed after the flowers have bloomed as will enable the new shoots from the end of the remaining portion of the stalk to replace the old growth. About four feet is a safe measure of the amount that may be taken off.

Those who have grown climbing roses as a screen on their porches in order to insure a fine bloom the coming year will do well to follow the advice as given for the higher trellis. In other words, about four feet of the old stalks that have bloomed should be cut off immediately after the blossoms are withered. The foliage will recover within a very short period and continue to screen the porch, and next year an abundant crop of blossoms will be assured.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. DENVER OPENS DOORS TO ELKS

"Hello Bill" is Common Form of Greeting as They Gather for Golden Jubilee Reunion

EXPECT 30,000 TO ATTEND

Principal Feature, of Decoration is Large Representation of Elk Brilliantly Illuminated.

(By United Press.)

Denver, July 13.—"Hello, Bill" is the common form of greeting in Denver today, for nearly 20,000, "Bills", otherwise known as members of the Benevolent Protection Order of Elks today began the festivities incident to the Golden Jubilee Reunion of their organization here. By night it is estimated that fully 30,000 Elks and from 30,000 to 40,000 friends and relatives will be in the city. Special trains began arriving at noon Sunday from all parts of the country and since then it is estimated that one special has come in every half hour.

What the Grand Lodge officers declare promises to be the most successful reunion in the history of Elkdom opened at 10 a. m. with a reception to the ladies of the Elks at the Elks home. In fact the ladies monopolized the attention of the reception committee during the day. After an auto ride to various points of interest, a number of "daylight tango parties" were held in their honor this afternoon.

The formal exercises opening the reunion will be held tonight at the Municipal Auditorium. Mayor J. M. Perkins, for the city and Exalted Ruler Kincaid for the local Elks delivered the addresses of welcome, response being by Edward Leach, grand exalted ruler of the order.

All day long committees of local Elks, most of them in uniform, were at the Union station to greet the visiting delegations and to escort them to their headquarters. For the entertainment of visiting "Bills" thirty bands were engaged to give concerts in the downtown streets.

The decorations for the Reunion are equal to those which greeted visitors here during the triennial convocation of Knights Templar last summer. The Denver lodge has spent more than $100,000 for decorations and other plans for entertaining the guests. A gigantic representation of an Elk, brilliantly illuminated, is the principal feature of the decorations.

The Reunion will include Friday evening, July 17. Tomorrow morning the fiftieth session of the Grand Lodge will be opened at the Auditorium. Wednesday the competitive drill of visiting teams will be held and Thursday the big feature of the reunion—the Grand Parade of All Elk Lodges.

ROUND UP GANG OF DESPERADOES

Muncie Police Have Leaders in Crowd Which Has Been Operating in Eastern Indiana.

PARTIAL CONFESSIONS MADE

One is Captured at Anderson and Two at Muncie—More Arrests Are Expected Any Time.

Muncie, Ind., July 13.—With three men under arrest, all of whom having made partial confessions, wherein each blamed the other for various safeblowings, robberies and holdups, the police are confident that they are gradually rounding up a gang of desperadoes which has been operating in eastern Indiana for several months.

The men now under arrest are Dan Ashby, taken in Anderson yesterday afternoon; Fred Curl, Ashby's brother-in-law, who is said to be the leader of the gang, and Leroy Drake, the last named two having been arrested yesterday as they stepped off a car here, after having lost their nerve before attempting to blow up the Albany postoffice safe and rob two stores in the village of De Soto.

In his confession Curl admits he and Ashby robbed the postoffice in Springport of $82 and the Hoover grocery there of $24 last March. Ashby admits being in Springport with Curl, but denies taking part in robberies there.

Drake, on being arrested, was the first to make confession that he and Curl had been concerned in the robbery of an office here. Drake, in a later confession, admitted he often had robbed the Jackson drug store here, sometimes emptying the cash register, and at other times stealing articles from the place. He said he had been engaged in many other robberies, and that Curl at times was his companion in these robberies.

An attack made on G. P. Griffith a grocer here, also was cleared up by the Drake confession. Drake said that Curl told him that Ashby had made the assault for the purpose of robbery. Ashby said Curl made the assault.

All of the men under arrest are between thirty-two and thirty-five years old and are married, with families in destitute circumstances. Other arrests are expected.

DOESN'T EXPECT ANY FATTED CALF

Joseph Scott Makes Speech at De-Kalb County Republican Convention Announcing Return.

KILL DONKEY IN NOVEMBER

Auburn, Ind., July 13.—One of the interesting features of the recent De-kalb county Republican convention, pronounced one of the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of the party organization in this county, was a short address by Joseph Scott, of Auburn Junction, who sat in the convention and seconded the nomination of W. H. Willenar as a candidate for the state legislature. "It is well-known to most of you," said Mr. Scott in the course of his remarks, "that Mr. Willenar and I have of always agreed, but I am for him for this nomination. It is time for all opposed to Democratic policies to get together and fight for a return of good times. You all know, too, that two years ago I trailed off the straight path and followed the false gods of the bull moose, but I have seen the error of my way and have come back home. I want it understood, however, that I don't expect any fatted calf to be killed for me. What I think we ought to do is for all to get together and then in November we will kill the donkey."

WANTS LONGER SCHOOL TERM

Head of Federal Bureau of Education Says Long Vacation is Unpardonable Waste of Time

HE STACKS UP SOME FIGURES

Dr. P. P. Claxton Points out That Vacation for Most Children is a Time of Idleness

Dr. P. P. Claxton, the head of the federal bureau of education, has started a propaganda in favor of longer terms for city schools.

"There are approximately 13,000,000 of school age in the cities, towns, manufacturing villages and unincorporated suburban communities of the United States," said he, "more than 9,500,000 of whom are enrolled in private and public schools. The average daily attendance is not much in excess of 6,500,000. These children are taught by approximately 300,000 teachers at a cost for all purposes of approximately $300,000,000.

"City schools are in session an average of about 180 days, exclusive of holidays. The average school day is five hours. Children who attend school regularly and without tardiness have nine hundred hours of schooling in the year. The average attendance of those enrolled is 120 days or six hundred hours.

"There are in the year 8,760 hours, 5,110 waking hours for children who sleep ten hours a day. Children who attend the full time are in the school a little less than one-third of the waking hours of 180 days, and not in school at all 185 days. The average attendance is only about one-third of the waking hours of 120 days, with no attendance of 245 days. Children who attend all the school hours of the year are in school nine hundred hours, and out of school 4,210 waking hours.

"Probably 15 per cent of these children are away from home during the summer vacation months, or have useful employment and 85 per cent, or more are at home without useful occupation. They spend the time in idleness on the streets and alleys without guidance, on vacant lots, and much that was learned at school is forgotten.

"The schools, which are established and maintained for the purpose of educating children into manhood and womanhood of preparing them for society and citizenship, and of giving them such knowledge and training as will enable them to make an honest living should provide some kind of instruction for these children through what is now, in most cities, a long, wasteful vacation.

"I believe no one will claim that the addition of five hundred or six hundred hours to the number now spent in school would be a burden to any child. The addition of three school months of five hours a day would mean only three hundred hours more in the school year for children attending regularly and promptly and only two hundred hours for average child on the basis of present attendance. This would give 1,200 hours for children attending the full time and eight hundred hours for the average child; of course much less than that for many.

"Possibly the school day in the summer term should not be more than four hours; that is from 7 or 8 o'clock to 11 or 12 o'clock in the forenoon. School work can be done much better during these hours in the summer time than in the present school hours of the winter months. Attendance is easier and the buildings do not need to be heated. It might be necessary to change the school work, so as to give more laboratory and shopwork and less of the ordinary bookwork during the summer sessions than in the winter. Children attending the summer session under these conditions would, no doubt, be much happier and would live more wholesomely than when turned loose on the streets and alleys with nothing to do. It is a mistake to suppose that children do not like to work. Children do like to work at whatever is of real benefit to them until they learn to be idle.

"For most teachers the additional months in school would not be a hardship, especially if the school days were shortened. Certainly, this would be true if teachers could be relieved of a large amount of unnecessary bookkeeping, report making and the reading of unnecessary examination papers, with which they are now burdened. It would cost very little more to employ teachers by the year, each teacher teaching three-quarters to two-thirds of the year after the plan already adopted in many colleges and universities."

IS RUN OVER BY A SURREY

Mrs. Gordon Kincaid of Near Clarksburg Slightly Injured.

As she started to get out of the back seat of the surrey in Greensburg Saturday, Mrs. Gordon Kincaid, living west of Clarksburg, was pulled to the ground when her dress caught on the step and a back wheel ran over one of her ankles, but she was not seriously hurt. She was left in the back seat alone and the lines were thrown over the dash. The horse started up and Mrs. Kincaid expected to jump and stop it. A passerby caught the horse before it was running very fast and no damage resulted.

HERE'S SOME CHICKEN

(By United Press.)

Alliance, O., July 13.—The most unique of extraordinary performances in egg laying may be credited to a common plymouth rock hen, the property of George E. Anderson, a local mail carrier, according to Anderson today. In a period of sixteen days this biddie produced eight eggs, all double yolked, four weighing a pound and all about 6½ by 8½ inches in circumference. Following this performance the hen now lays normal eggs.

UNITED STATES RANKS VERY HIGH

In Basic Elements of Economic Progress is One of Five Nations Having Over 3 Million Miles.

WITH EXCEPTION OF RUSSIA

It is Only Nation of Western World Having a Population of More Than a Hundred Million.

Washington, July 13.—In the basic elements of economic progress the United States ranks high among the nations of the world, being one of the five countries which have an area in excess of 3 million square miles, and the only nation of the western world (except Russia) having a population, of over 100 million. In the interchange of products among its own people it leads the world, its home trade at the present time being estimated at nearly 40 billion dollars, or equal to the international exchanges of the world and approximately 10 times the value of our foreign trade now valued at 4 billion dollars.

That our present foreign trade is far short of the immediate possibilities of the nation is evident from a consideration of its area, commerce, and other economic factors in comparison with that of other leading countries, as set forth in comparative tables published in the "Statistical Abstract of the United States, 1913," compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. Thus the present export trade of the United States (2½ billion dollars) represent about $25 per capita. A per capita basis equal to that of Argentina would raise the export power of the United States to 5 billion dollars; and one equal to that of Belgium would bring its exports to 10 billion dollars a year; while our aggregate foreign trade, when upon a per capita basis as large as that of Canada would be considerably over 13 billion dollars a year.

Other comparative tables in the "Statistical Abstract" further emphasize the commercial power of the United States and its strong international position. In railway mileage, for example we possess one third of the world's total, our 258,000 miles being ten times as much as the mileage of the United Kingdom and six times that of Germany. One company alone has 238,000 miles of telegraph lines, or double the total in Russia, next in order. More than one-third of the world's mail service is performed upon routes located in the United States, while our public debt of one billion dollars is smaller than that of Italy, Austria-Hungary, Spain, Germany, Australia, Japan, British India, or Great Britain, and is less than one-sixth that of France, and one-fourth that of Russia.

Temporary recessions have frequently marked the course of American commerce, but the tendency, according to historical tables published in the Statistical Abstract, is ever higher. In 11 years, from 1890 to 1901, our foreign trade grew from 1½ billion to 2½ billion dollars, an increase of 50 per cent, while in the 11 years from 1902 to 1913 it increased from 2½ to 4½ billions, a gain of 90 per cent.

The foundations of this growth are laid deep in the soil and natural resources of our country and in the character of our people. Thus the American Union, from 13 states having 325 thousand square miles and 1 million people, has expanded to 48 states and the territories of Alaska, Porto Rico, and Hawaii, with an area of 3 2/3 million square miles and 100 million people. In the period since 1870 the value of our farm products has risen from 2 billion to about 10 billion dollars a year; the output of coal from less than 30 to nearly 500 million long tons; copper from 12½ thousand to over one-half million tons; pig iron from 2 to 31 million tons; petroleum from 221 million to 9½ billion gallons; and manufactures from 4 billion to over 20 billion dollars.

Data relating to education, labor, finance prices and other facts affecting the economic life of the people are also contained in the "Statistical Abstract of the United States, 1913," which may be procured from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for 50 cents a copy.

Glasgow. Going into the Firth of Clyde at sunrise is a wonderful sight. By nine o'clock Tuesday we reached our hotel in Glasgow and had a good breakfast and went to bed as we were nearly dead for sleep and rest. "Everyone had special praise for the British navy men, the men from the Island and the ship's men for the way in which the passengers were transferred from the California. Only one accident occurred in removing the thousand passengers and that not serious. A man fell out of the blanket into the sea but was rescued.

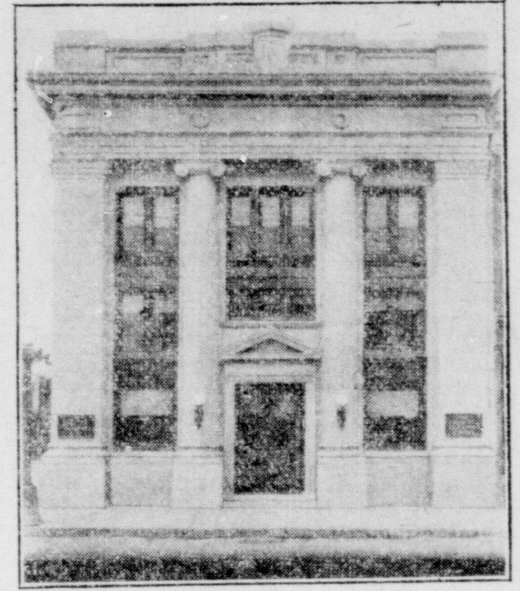

"The irrepressible moving picture man with his camera was with us so you may see us rolling off a film one of these days.

"We are very thankful that we are able to go on with our journey no worse for the experience."

COLLAR BONE BROKEN.

John Conway, son of Mrs. Ed Bowen, sustained a badly broken collar bone late Sunday afternoon while playing ball at the South Main street grounds. Young Conway ran into another player at third base and the left collar bone was broken in two places. He was removed to the office of Dr. Lowell M. Green where the fracture was reduced.
